Leighton Powell / Scenery Saver

A happy Richmond come-here by way of Georgia, Vassar College, and Manhattan, Leighton now lives in historic Jackson Ward. She is a fan of British literature, good manners, and SPF 40 moisturizer. The executive director of Scenic Virginia, she works to save historic viewsheds like this one at Libby Hill Park in Church Hill.

Her Five Rules:

Don't mess with redheads. Just. Don't.

Stay single, but get a dog. Two words: Got beagle?!

Do a good deed every day, even if no one's looking.

Re-read Jane Austen every six years. (I ♥ Mr. Darcy!)

Relish the natural beauty that surrounds us, and join Scenic Virginia to help keep it that way.
